Reading books

We don't set homework, but we do request that you hear your child read their school reading book to you a minimum of 3 times a week.

They read this to you,
not you to them.

Make sure they are practising sounding out the words and blending them together. Help them if they get stuck, by sounding the word back out to them.

You're never too old, too wacky, too wild, to pick up a book and read to a child.

Reading feeds the imagination, it expands horizons and offers new and exciting ways of seeing and making sense of our lives and of the world around us.
